THE RALEIGH NEWS.

VOL. XVI.--79 RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1879. $5.00 PER ANNUM

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

DAILY PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Senator Gordon's Resolution on the Inter-Oceanic Canal—Mr. Price's Resolution on Currency.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Senator Gordon introduced the following joint resolution:

WHEREAS, the project of the construction of the Inter-Oceanic Canal in Nicaragua is recognized as a necessity for the prosperity of the commerce of the world and the development of the maritime and commercial interests of the United States; and, whereas, such an enterprise must of necessity be considered as of national utility, under the protection of the United States, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Government of the United States pledges itself to accord full and entire protection to the company which shall be granted the construction by the government of Nicaragua, for the protection of the said Inter-Oceanic Canal, and will secure to the said company a peaceful enjoyment of the rights conceded by such concession as will be referred to by the committee commerce when appointed.

Senator Burnside then called up his resolution of the last session reaffirming the Monroe doctrine in connection with the proposed Darien Canal, and proceeded to speak thereon.

At the conclusion of Senator Burnside's remarks the Senate, on motion of Senator Garland, went into executive session at 12:45, and when the doors reopened at 1 P. M., adjourned.

HOUSE.

Resolution offered by Mr. Price, of Iowa, declaring it to be the opinion of the House that no change should be made in the currency laws at the present session of Congress was referred, as was also the joint resolution introduced by Mr. Ellis, of Louisiana, pledging the protection of the government to the Nicaraguan Inter-Oceanic Canal Company, when it shall have obtained a grant from the Nicaraguan government.

The House engaged in reference of the bills introduced by unanimous consent.

Mr. Young (Ohio) offered a resolution for the appointment of a commission to investigate the present system of paying the fees of officers of United States courts. Referred.

Mr. White (Penn.) introduced a joint resolution proposing constitutional amendments providing that general appropriation bills shall contain nothing but appropriations, and granting power to the President to disapprove any separate item without defeating the entire bill.

Mr. Fort offered a resolution opposing all attempts to withdraw or change the status of any of the paper money issued by the United States, or to reopen, by legislation, the currency questions which have been settled by the Supreme Court.

Mr. McCain (Iowa) offered a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to give Congress power to regulate and protect trade-marks.

The House then adjourned.

A Suspicious Crowd.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 2.—A Los Pinos dispatch says the White River Utes came in last Saturday and were before the Commissioner. They all wear arms, though concealed. The members of the commission and attaches all keep their guns and revolvers near, so that they may be used on quick notice. Both sides are distrustful, although they endeavor to appear at ease.

Henry Jirm, the Indian who was interpreter at the White River agency, testified last Saturday that he knew nothing of the massacre at the agency, but was at Milk River and knew that Jack and Colorow led the attack on Thornburg. Some of the other Indians present attempted to interrupt and prompt him, but he paid little attention to them and told a straight story.

Douglass and Jack did not come in, but they are expected to do so.

It is now said that a party is advancing from Utah, supposed to be soldiers, or Mormons. The Indians are coming from all quarters—six hundred to one thousand Utes being camped within a day's ride of the agency. The hostiles present are considerably agitated, and gather in knots inside and outside the building, and the chiefs and head men constantly address squads of the braves.

Potter Declared Elected.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The rumor which was mentioned in one of the last evening's papers, is repeated this morning, that the State board of canvassers have probably certified to the certificate of Clarkson N. Potter as Lieutenant Governor of the State, in consequence of irregularities by some of the county boards in counting as scattering votes intended for him. The difference in the vote cast for Hoskins and Potter respectively, is said to be less than one hundred.

ANOTHER DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—An Albany special to an evening paper says: Complete returns of the late election are now at the office of the State. The majority for Hoskins over Potter by the full returns is 287. The board of State canvassers meets December 12th for the purpose of counting the returns and making an official declaration of the result.

Manchester Cotton Market.

MANCHESTER, Dec. 2.—The Guardian, in its commercial article this morning says: The market is quieter, and in most departments demands are low. India and China merchants continue to buy piece goods very sparingly, but there is a fair inquiry for yarns for China, at Friday's rates. For other foreign markets and also for the home trade, business is small, or at least very moderate; but full prices are required for checking.

Jumped the Track.

MEMPHIS, December 2.—The eastern bound freight train on the Little Rock Railroad jumped the track yesterday afternoon between Forest City and Madison, and ran into a trestle, ditching fifteen cars loaded with cotton, all of which were burned. A negress, her two children, and George Forsyth, a brakeman, were instantly killed. H. R. Trowbridge, conductor, O'Brien, a brakeman, and Joseph Hooker, proprietor of the Blackfish eating station, were seriously injured. The engine and tender passed over safely.

A Beer Contest.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 2—In the United States Court yesterday, Judge Dyer decided the case of Matthew Galtfried against the Philip Best Brewing Company, sustaining the complainant's patent. The decision makes the brewers liable for royalty for the use of the process and apparatus for pitching the inner surface of kegs and barrels, which has been in operation in all the large breweries for several years. The case will probably be appealed to the Supreme Court.

A "Moonshine" Battle.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue today received a dispatch from Collector Clark, of Atlanta, Georgia, stating that an assault by a band of illicit distillers had been made upon his deputies in Downs county. The collector also says three of his deputies in Rabun county, after seizing several illicit distilleries, were fired upon and all wounded. One of them five times. The deputies returned the fire, and being armed with United States breech loading rifles, were enabled to drive the illicit distillers off. Collector Clark expresses the opinion that there is a preconcerted plan on the part of illicit distillers throughout the entire mountain section to resist the revenue officers. The Commissioner has directed the collector to employ a sufficient force of armed men to arrrest them and maintain the supremacy of the revenue laws.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Right Hon. John Arthur Roebuck, liberal member of Parliament for Sheffield, and a prominent political writor, is dead.

Senator Beck, of Kentucky, while deer hunting in that State, last week, was seriously but not dangerously hurt by his horse falling with him.

George Myer, of Menlo Park, N. J., accidentally killed his thirteen year old son Friday by the accidental discharge of his shot gun, which he was cleaning.

Professor David E. Bartlett, teacher in the American Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb in Hartford, Connecticut, died Monday night, aged seventy-four.

Henry Tutwiler, a well-known farmer, of Augusta county, Va., was found dead in the public road Wednesday. It is supposed he died from heart disease.

Mr. Charles S. Parnell is expected to sail for America within the next fortnight. He will be accompanied by Mr. Finnigan, member of Parliament from Ennis.

The protracted drought has permitted the spread of forest fires in the Dismal Swamp, and they are now raging extensively in the timber near Deep creek.

No progress has been made in the consolidated brewery scheme at Cincinnati, and the report on appraisement of breweries is not expected before Thursday.

At the Oneida and Wallingford communities sixteen marriages have taken place since their change from promiscuous marriage to having one husband and one wife.

A contractor on the Kansas Central railroad refusing, on Saturday, to pay some of his men on forged time checks, was attacked by them, his quarters were captured and he was compelled to pay the checks. The ringleaders were subsequently arrested.

An English opera company, which has been doing Fatinitza, Pinafore and The Cadets in the West, has broken up in distress at Cincinnati. A concert was given for the benefit of the company to raise funds to get them back to New York.

The physical condition of Governor George B. McClellan, of New Jersey, is such as to seriously alarm his friends in that State. A relapse is seriously threatened and there are misgivings that he may not be able to serve his term out.

Sixteen revenue deputies raiding in Towns county, Georgia, were surrounded by a large force of armed mountaineers last week and forced to surrender a leading moonshiner. One of the deputies was wounded and left for dead by the outlaws.

The announcement of the end of the coal miners' strike in Ohio was premature. The operators at Columbus have nearly all agreed to put new men in the Straitsville, Shawnee, Monday Creek and Hocking Valley regions today. The strike has lasted one week.

The six days bicycle race at Chicago was concluded Saturday night at 11 o'clock, the score standing: English—Cann 855, Stanton, 810; totatal 1,665. Americans—G. Harrison 858, Rutland 800; total, 1658. So the Englishmen won, spite of the hundred mile handicap allowed the Americans.

Crowley and Gillen, charged at Chicago with throwing pepper in the eyes of Illinois Central railroad messengers, six months ago, and robbing them of $10,000, have been tried. Crowley was found guilty as accessory and sentenced to seven years' imprisonment. In the case of Gillen the jury disagreed.

Ex-Governor Wheaton, of Detroit, Michigan, has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement made by Caroline V. Robinson, of Greencastle, Pennsylvania, who alleges that he appropriated money received by him as trustee of the estate of the late David Wilkens, of Allegheny City, Pennsylvania.

In a gale of wind Friday night, at the mouth of the James river, the oyster boat Lillie, Captain Henry Jarvis, of Norfolk, Va., was capsized, and Henry Jarvis, Burdick Jarvis, Robert Jarvis and James Reid were all thrown overboard. The boat sank out of sight. All of the crew were rescued in a half drowned condition, except Burdick Jarvis, who disappeared in seven fathoms water.

The seventy-two hour walking match at Newark, N. J., under the management of Daniel O'Leary, closed Saturday night, with the following score: Hart, colored, 373 miles and 12 laps; Fitzgerald, 370; Geldert, 350; Redding, 358 and 1 lap; Campana, 354 and 2, laps. The record made by Hart is the best performance for seventy-two hours that has ever taken place any where.

In Nelson county, Ky., last week, Anthony Kelly, colored, was persuaded by a negro woman, claiming to work miracles, to murder a woman named Kate Miller, in order to sell her body to medical students. The murder was done with an axe. Subsequently Kelly was found in his doorway with his throat cut and his cabin was on fire.

A party of young men from Ohio crossed into Wayne county, West Virginia, Friday, to witness the execution of Laborn Walker, the murderer of Patrick Nolen. They got drunk on the way, and in a dispute about horse-trading Alonzo Burns drew a pistol and shot Elijah Jackson through the head. Jackson was still alive at last accounts, but unconscious. Burns, who is under arrest, is only eighteen years of age and is the son of James M. Burns, a prominent lawyer.

The steamer Atlas, at Boston from Liverpool, yesterday brought the survivors of the British bark Edith, Capt. Trainer, from Philadelphia for Queenstown, which foundered in a gale at sea November 21st. The captain and four of the crew, who got off in one boat, were probably drowned. The mate and seven men were picked up in a small boat by the Atlas, after having been exposed to nearly a week's suffering on a stormy ocean. The Edith foundered within two hours after the crew abandoned her.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE COMMITTEES DISCUSSED.

Senator Chandler's Committee Positions at the Disposal of the Republicans—The Senate Patronage.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—The Democratic Senators met in caucus this morning. There was a large attendance, Senator Wallace, chairman of the caucus, announced that the meeting had been called as usual at the beginning of the session to consider the subject of the revising the Democratic membership of the committees prior to their reappointment by the Senate. No vacancies having been created by death or resignation in the Democratic membership during the recess of Congress and there being no applications presented to-day for exchanges, it was resolved that the majority of the representation shall remain as fixed at the extra session, and the chairman was directed to notify the Republicans that the committee positions occupied by the late Senator Chandler are at the disposal of the minority.

A somewhat general discussion then ensued concerning the distribution of the Senate's patronage. Several of the Senators complained that it had not been equally distributed, and said that when the officers of the Senate were spoken to on the subject, they referred to the caucus resolution of last year, which bound them to retain certain employees except in the event of misconduct, and contended that with the remainder of the patronage they had done the best they could. The question of amending these resolutions was then broached, but there was no disposition manifested to interfere with the one by which the Senate's officers were required to retain all the disabled Union soldiers that were on the rolls, but it was remarked that there are still employed by the Senate a number of men, placed in office by the Republicans, who were never in the army in any capacity, and the desire was expressed by some of the members of the caucus to replace them with Democrats.

After some discussion the resolution directing inquiry into the nature of instructions given by the caucus last session and several other resolutions providing specifically for the retention of Captain Bassett and various other old employees in case any further changes are made, were referred to the caucus committee on organization, which was created last March to be reported on hereafter. The Republican Senators will hold a caucus this afternoon. There is no doubt Senator Baldwin, of Michigan will be assigned to the place held by his predecessor.

WILSON.

WILSON, Dec. 1.—The weather is cold, clear and invigorating.

The crops are much better than was expected.

The approach of Conference stimulates trade, which is very lively.

Mr. W. C. Gorham and Miss Lilly Durham have been married.

Rev. William Closs, D. D., preached in the Methodist Church Sunday morning, and Rev. J. T. Gibbs, of Oxford, at night. This was the fourth quarterly meeting of the church for this conference year.

Conference of the State commences in this place in the Methodist Church on Wednesday, December 3d, at 9 o'clock a. m., Bishop W. M. Wightman, presiding. Preparation has been made for the accommodation of delegates.

Æsop Improved.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Grandfather Lickshingle called the children to him, and holding them by the hair of the head to prevent their escape, said:

"Once upon a time there lived a gentleman named Æsop—George Washington Æsop—an' a more truthfuler gentleman I never knowed. He had many stories which he used to tell with more or less success. On his dying bed he called me to him an' said: 'Mr. Lickshingle, when I am dead an' gone, I wish you to perpetrate my memory by relatin' my stories, just as you have often heard me relate them, nothin' extenuatin' nor settin' down aught in malice.' Then he fell back on his pillar, an' in a few minutes we heard the grim ferryman paddle his spirit over to the shinin' shore. Now, children, here's one or two of these little stories:

I.

"A crow which wuz so infernally dry that it had begun to spit bales of cotton, seed a pitcher, an' with the observation that it wuz a long railroad that had no turn table, flew to it to quench its whistle. On reachin' the pitcher, he was appalled by the discovery that it contained so little water, that he couldn't reach it with a ten-foot pole. He tried every way he could think of, even standin' on his head, and wuz about givin' up in despair, when he seed a friendly mill pond a few rods distant. Seizin' the pitcher in his talons an' flyin' with great difficulty to the pond, he filled it to the top. Then, after takin' several hearty pulls from it, he wiped his lips on his tail-feathers and remarked: 'Necessity is the mother of invention, and don't you forget it.'"

II

"A yaller dog lay in a manger, an' by his disagreeable barkin' an' showin of his teeth, prevented the oxen from eatin' the hay which had been placed there for them. 'What a ridiculous dog!' scid one of them to his companion 'he can not eat the hay himself, an yet refuses to allow them to eat it as can. 'We will see about that,' observed the companion, a seven-year old roan steer of bad disposition; 'we will see about that,' an' walkin' up to the manger with the remark, 'come out of that you mangy son of a gun!' he took the dog on his horns, tossed him up to the roof a few times, mopped the stable floor with him, an' wound up the circus by shootin' him through the door into an adjacent corn-field. The dog dragged hisself off to a sequestered spot an' said with his latest breath: 'If thar's a hereafter for lost aeronauts, I'll bet seven dollars I get thar!'"

The Deserted Baby Finds a Home.

Charlotte Observer, 2d.

The deserted baby has fortunately secured a comfortable home and will receive all the kindness and attention that would be given it by the most devoted mother. Its deliverers from its miserable surroundings came in the person of two kind-hearted ladies who have determined to rear it by the work of their own hands. The little fellow (for it is a boy) is in fine health, and is the object of much curiosity and interest in the neighborhood of his new home. Quite a number of persons paid their respects to him yesterday and he was the recipient of a good many presents in the shape of clothing. There ought to be a fund raised for his support. Certainly those who have undertaken the task of caring for him ought not to be burdened with the expense attached to such a charge.

LATE STATE NOTES.

New Berne Nut Shell.

The woods around New Berne are stocked with squirrels, and it is no unusual occurrence for hunters to go out and bag eighteen or twenty in a day's hunt. It is said game is more plentiful this season than for many years.

Mrs. Chadwick and Miss Haskett, the two ladies living in the same house on Craven street, who met with serious accidents week before last, are now doing very well. Miss Haskett's broken limb is knitting nicely, while the surgical operations performed on Mrs. Chadwick has rendered her easy and comparatively comfortable.

Kinston Journal.

Here's another big tale our reporter gathered up at Pamlico court: A rat gathered from one vine in Wm. Hines' potato patch 372 potatoes and stored them away in his nest. He cut them off when about the size of a man's finger, and the vine kept growing and bearing until digging time, when the rat's nest was found with about a peck of these potatoes, and only this one vine had been disturbed.

Morganton Blade.

Captain P. P. Mull, who lives in Catawba county, just over the Burke line, was in town this week. He says that the corn crop in his section is the best it has been since the war, and that the farmers are much pleased with the present high prices.

Mr. Philip Anthony, of this county, presented us a beet this week, the compliments of Mrs. Anthony, that beats all the beets for size we have ever seen. It is three feet in circumference and over one foot across the stump.

Mr. John Sloan, a useful mechanic, is building a corn mill for himself in Lower Creek township, which he says he can run all day and grind ten bushels per hour with less water than runs any mill in the county.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The loudest voices now heard for the nomination of Grant are the "professional" politicians and "managers" of causes and conventions. And this advocacy has not helped Grant with the plain people of the country.—North Adams Transcript.

People who have been distressed with fears that the country would be called upon to pay the rebel debt may be reassured. The colored and white Republicans, as shown in the Virginia election, will never consent to the payment of any debt that they can possibly repudiate.—Boston Pilot.

Tennessee Republicans claim the Vice-Presidency on the Republican ticket next year for Horace Maynard, who has seen sixteen years' service in Congress and is a Massachusetts man with an Amherst education. John A. Logan is the variety of stalwart ex-Senator Brownlow's son would like to see given first place on the ticket.

The New Orleans Times thinks that 1880 will end the "bloody shirt" business, and that tariff and kindred questions will soon wipe out Mason and Dixon's line by uniting the South and West against the policies of the New England and Middle States.

Mass meetings were held in New Orleans Saturday night by the Democrats at St. Charles Theater and by the Republicans at Lafayette square. The Republican meeting was the largest of that party held there for some years. Speeches were made by General Woodford, Judge Taylor Beattie and others.

A Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Times states that Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana, has written a letter to an intimate friend, saying that if is necessary for the best interests of the Democratic party that he should take second place on the national ticket with ex-Governor Seymour he will accept the nomination.

A Narrow Escape from Death.

Wilmington Star, 2d.

On Friday afternoon, as Captain W. J. Potter was returning to his home in Smithville, after being engaged in distributing religious tracts, he was hailed by his little daughter, who said, "Goosy's under the sand and cannot get out." He accompanied the child to the spot indicated, to investigate the cause of her distress, when he saw by the movement of the sand that something was buried under it. He immediately went to work to liberate the supposed goose, but had not proceeded far in his excavation, when he discovered to his horror that the object under the sand, instead of being a goose, as his child had supposed, was nothing more nor less than a little girl, one Georgia Ann Newton, about twelve years old, who, it seems, had been digging a hole in a sand-bank, when the sand caved and buried her beneath it. When taken out she was almost dead from asphyxia, being unable to speak, but soon recovered when exposed to the fresh air. The rescued child was taken home by her kind benefactor, who was delighted that he had arrived at the scene of the accident so opportunely, and thus saved the life of the poor girl.

Destructive Fire.

Charlotte Observer, 2d.

While in the city yesterday evening about dark, Mr. S. H. Hilton, who lives three miles south of the city, received information that his cotton gin, with several thousand pounds of cotton, steam saw mill and grist mill, with a large amount of grain had been completely destroyed by fire. The flames broke out about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and their origin at the time the messenger left had not been determined. The property is among the most valuable of the kind in the county and was in excellent condition, paying its owner handsomely. The loss is estimated at about $3,000 by Mr. Hilton, upon the information brought by the messenger, though it may prove greater or less. The insurance is only about $1,000.

AND WHAT IS LIKELY TO COME OF IT.

A View of the Clement Attachment—What the South Wastes in Cotton Seed Oil.

Atlanta Constitution, 30th.

A few days ago a gentleman entered the Constitution office and introduced himself as Mr. Fred Gates of New Iberia, La. Mr. Gates stated that he had read the article on the Clement attachment mill copied from the Constitution into some western paper, and that he visited Georgia for the purpose of investigating the little mill. He stated that if he was pleased he would invest at once in the mills. He went on to explain that he now had in operation a New Iberia a cotton-seed oil mill that cost $5,000 and said that if he could get a few Clement attachments at work in front of his oil mill he would then be able to handle the cotton from the field all the way through to yarn and oil. Mr. Gates talked so intelligently on the subject, and seemed such a fair and capable man, that we asked him to call by at the Constitution office on his return from the mill at Westminster and give us his impressions, good or bad. He promised to do so.

On yesterday Mr. Gates returned from Westminster. He had spent a day or two at the mill and had studied it from every standpoint. He had gone over the books, the mill and the correspondence. He had examined for himself and had questioned others, and when he entered our office said he had made all the investigation that he cared to make.

HE WANTS FOUR OF THE MILLS.

"Well, what is the result of your investigations?"

"I can answer that question best by saying that I have determined to have four mills put up on my place at once. I have stated to Mr. Stribling that I should want him to enter into a contract, with a forfeiture, to have the mills in working order on my place by the 1st of next September. He agreed to do this, and I am now going home to prepare for them."

"You were thoroughly satisfied with the examination?"

"I should not have invested had I not been. The mill does more than I expected it could do, and the profits are not only more certain than I had hoped they could be, but larger. I am a practical man, and am in the manufacture now. I do not think I could have made a mistake in my estimates."

"Is there much interest felt in the mills?"

"I never saw anything like it. I saw Mr. Stribling's mail come in the day got I there. He had twenty-five to thirty letters, and his table was just covered with similar letters. He has already orders for several, and I am only afraid that he will be unable to meet the demand. He seems to be a man of sterling character, but I fear he has not the experience and energy necessary to engineer the thing through the demand that will be made for the mills. He will have from fifty to one hundred to put up in Georgia alone, next year. I do not know what arrangements he has for having the machinery made. I should like to see a company with capital and progressive views get hold of the attachment—of course taking Mr. Stribling in for I believe he understands it better than any one else could. He has the rights to this section."

A THOROUGH HANDLING OF COTTON.

"You have, you say, now in operation a seed-oil mill?"

"Yes, sir. When I get the Clement attachments to work I will handle the staple from the field all the way through With the Clement mill I will gin, and card and spin the seed cotton into yarn. Instead of putting the seed in the ground as fertilizers, I will put them in my oil mill. I will extract the oil. I then take the body of the seed from whither the oil has been expressed and make it into cotton seed cake, which I send to New Orleans and sell. I take the hulls of the seed and use them as fuel for my engines, and even save the ashes from the hulls and sell them for fertilizers. So that from the field on there is not a thing wasted."

"Are the seed as good for fertilizers after the oil is taken out."

"Just as good. It doesn't hurt them one particle. And then made into cakes it is the best food for stock. I sell the cakes in New Orleans from where it is exported for nearly as much as the cotton seed cost me. With the hulls for fuel, and the ashes for fertilizers, I more than get my money back and have the oil clear."

"There is a great waste, then in not extracting the oil from all the seed used as fertilizers?"

"Certainly. There is a waste of $12 a ton. I get $12 worth of oil out of every ton of cotton seed, and then leave the seed quite as valuable for feed and fertilizers as they were before the oil was expressed. With every ton of seed therefore thrown on the land before they are put through the oil mill we throw away $12."

"Does the process of extracting the oil pay?"

"It has paid me about 60 per cent. That is, I mean that I buy a ton of cotton seed at $8. I get out of that ton $12 worth of oil. It pays me a clear profit of $5 a ton for every ton of seed I work. It is acknowledged by all who know anything of the business that the oil seed mill business is the most lucrative manufacturing business in the South. It has grown very rapidly where it has ever been started. In New Orleans, for instance, there is $8,000,000 invested in oil seed mills, and the companies controlling them report the most satisfactory results. All over Louisiana the farmers send their seed to these mills and get $10 a ton for it, they paying freight, so that it nets the farmer about $8 a ton."

"Is the demand for the oil and the seed cakes steady?"

"Steady and growing. The oil can be sold in infinite quantity and the seed cakes are exported or sold at home just as rapidly as they can be made. I sell all I have to the farmers right around me."

"Why is it that oil seed mills are not more frequent throughout the South?"

"Just because our people are not progressive and enterprising. Many of them do not have the money and those that have it are afraid to trust it in any new enterprise. They will not even trust their own sense. Why, when I quit the law and went to build a $25,000 oil mill in the country I was the laughing stock of the parish. Some of my neighbors thought I could do nothing with it, but I went about quietly, because I knew it would pay. I had only about $8,000 in cash, but I went into it with a $25,000 machine. I have now paid out and have a surplus with which to begin with the Clement attachment. I run my oil seed mill night and day. Since it has demonstrated itself I could get enough capital from my neighbors to put up half dozen cotton seed oil mills. When I go back home they will laugh at me just the same about the Clement mills, but when I get the thing to work I will show them that I know what I am about."

"In running your machines how many men will you employ?"

"I employ now sixteen people in my oil mills, that is two sets of hands. In my Clement attachment I will need say twenty more. I should say in the two processes about thirty-five hands."

"How many does it take to grow the cotton that you would use?"

"I will use four hundred bales in a year. It would take about fifty hands to raise that much."

"Then it would give employment to nearly double the number of people now engaged in growing the cotton, to run it through Clement attachments and oil seed mills?"

"Yes, sir; if all the cotton was spun into yarns and all the seed ground into oil and made into cakes, it would give employment to twice as many people as are now employed in growing the crop."

"What value do you add to the seed?"

"I double its value. I mean by that every ton that goes through my mill brings more than double the money that is yielded by a ton not ground up. There are 1,000 pounds of seed cotton to every bale of lint, or one ton to every two bales. The crop is 5,000,000 bales, which would give us 2,500,000 tons of cotton seed. The oil mills get $10 out of every ton of this that is ground up, which $10 is wasted in every other ton. If the whole 2,500,000 tons were gained we should have added to our cotton seed a value of $22,500,000. By running through the Clement mill we double the value of the lint cotton. Our crop of 5,000,000 bales is worth at $50 a bale $250,000,000. By spinning it through the Clement mills we would add a value of $250,000 000.

"These splendid results would be achieved then if every neighborhood would be furnished as yours will be."

"Yes. And if these chances existed in New England they would not lie open one year. The thrifty yankees would not see this waste in their staple crop go on more than a single season. The South, though, may consent to submit to it indefinitely. As far as I am concerned, I do not claim to be moved by any patriotic considerations. I went into the oil seed mill because I knew it would pay. I am going into the Clement mills for the same reason and for that reason only. I never took your word for what I read. I knew I could learn more in an hour than I could read in a week."

Masonic.

The ninety-third communication of the Grand Lodge of F. & A. M. commenced at Masonic Hall last evening. After the opening ceremonies, Grand Master William R. Cox, of this city, made a lengthy address. The lateness of the hour of its reception at the NEWS office precludes its publication in full. In opening, Grand Master Cox said:

We meet together to-night in fraternal communion for the purpose of advancing the cause of Freemasonry, and thereby promoting the welfare and happiness of our fellow men. We should not be content to indulge in pœans to the past achievements of our venerable order; but rather so to emphasize the present by our daily labors that we may feel sure that in the work which we now submit for the approval of our Supreme Grand Master we have faithfully pursued the designs traced upon the trestle-board.

In all of our Lodges there are altars upon which constantly rests the Holy Bible, which we recognize the "moral and spiritual trestle-board" of our faith; and thereon the Great Architect has drawn the designs which every faithful craftsman is expected diligently to copy. Hence it is unmistakably recognized as one of our landmarks: "A Mason is bound by his tenure to obey the moral law, and if he rightly understand the art, he will never be a stupid atheist or an irreligious libertine." Masonry erects no system of theology for its votaries; it sustains to the church militant the same relation which the asymptote bears to the hyperbolic curve, ever approaching, never touching, it; and it contemplates the promotion of man's truest happiness by the inculcation of genuine morality, and the practice of these triune virtues—Brotherly Love, Relief and Truth.

While it is not sought to enforce impossible conditions, every Mason, by his tenure, is obligated to live soberly, act discreetly, and uniformly obey the moral law: he is rightly enjoined never to mention the name of Deity but with that reverential awe, which is due from the creature to the Creator. While paying all lawful respect to those in authority, it never mingles in the political controversies of State, or seeks to influence in matters of religion.

Even amid the angry dash of arms and the fierce conflicts of civil war, its holy mission was to relieve suffering and misery, to pour oil into the gaping wounds, and to provide for the dead suitable burial. Hence, it has witnessed the rise and fall of dynasties, and has survived to command the confidence and respect of all, and to receive within its folds the good and great of every age and nation.

Whether it is now prospering within this jurisdiction depends upon whether you have faithfully and diligently acquitted yourselves of the responsibilities committed to your charge. This grand body is composed of the officers and of the subordinate lodges, and from these members we may learn of our condition. Wherever you shall find a bright and fearless Master, assisted by a prompt Secretary; you will see a flourishing and well regulated lodge, but wherever we discover these officers ignorant and indifferent, you will find the lodge in arreras, and in all probability be importuned with petitions for the remission of the dues, which self-respect requires, should be promptly met, and demits and decay mark its downward course.

He then went on to discuss various questions pertaining to the good of the Order, such as official correspondence, decisions regarding initiations and membership, prerogatives of the Grand Master, duties of committees, etc.

The attendance is quite large and the proceedings will doubtless be interesting in the highest degree.

The Tobacco Interest.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 2.—The twelfth annual meeting of the association of manufacturers and dealers in leaf tobacco was held yesterday. No recommendation was made to Congress for any change in the revenue laws. The association, however, is congratulating itself upon the reduction of the tax which has given a new impetus to the tobacco trade. Dr. E. W. Thomas was re-elected weigher and inspector.

Feeble Ladies.

Those languid, tiresome sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its elasticity; driving the bloom from your cheeks: that continual strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful, can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy, Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstructions of your system are relieved at once, while the special cause of periodical pain is permanently removed. Will you heed this?

JESSE JAMES NOT DEAD.

CHARACTERISTIC LETTER FROM THE NOTED OUTLAW.

He Says He does not Believe He has Been Killed---A Remarkable Letter.

Hannibal (Mo.) Clipper-Herald.

Readers of the Clipper-Herald will remember that some weeks ago our reporter caught a nightmare and rode through the labyrinths of Hannibal Cave, where he encountered, as he supposed, the James' boys' gang, headed by the redoubtable Jesse. The canard has been laughed at time and again in this office, and would have been classed with other forgotten fish stories but for the reported murder of Jesse James by George Shepherd, one of his old chums. This morning we visited the postoffice as usual, and among other letters found one addressed to the "Editor Clipper-Herald, Hannibal, Mo.," and bearing the postmark, "Brownwood, Texas." We opened the letter, and our astonishment may be imagined as we perused the following lines

FROM THE PEN OF JESSE JAMES:

BROWNWOOD, THE HARDEST TOWN IN TEXAS, Nov. 7, 1879.—To the Editor of the Herald-Clipper: Your reporter and George Shepherd have the most brilliant imaginations in America. They ought to pull in double harness as the boss hypothecators. They can lie with more appearance of truth than any two men in Missouri. Mark Twain's boss liar, who walked twenty miles to show a man a tree one hundred feet around, and when he reached the spot where he said the tree was, found only a sage-brush, and explained by saying that the tree had shrunk during the dry spell, was nothing to them.

"I never saw your cave, and never expect to. The man who runs me into a hole will do more than 'Pink's' detectives could, as Louis J. Lull can testify. Lull was game, though; the gamest man that I ever met, and I am glad that he pulled through. I read your reporter's yarn, and myself and wife laughed heartily over it.

"The description of my appearance, rather of my features, eyes, hair and beard, was accurate. Where did your reporter get it?

"I have just read a telegraphic account of the way George Shepherd got the drop on me, and I'll be —— if I believe it. George Shepherd would never treat me in that way. I shot his nephew because I had to, and he knows it. Besides, George is not a coward and would never have shot me in the back. I wish you newspaper men would not charge me with every train robbery and outrage that is committed in Missouri or the West. I had no more to do with the Glendale robbery than you had. The bungling manner in which the robbers allowed the 'dust' to slip through their hands shows this. I would have known what train the bullion was to be forwarded on from Kansas City, and would have stopped that train and no other, bet your life.

"But the very thought of the old days and old deeds makes my heart beat fast, and I long for the wild and reckless past, and but for my wife and boy would again take to the road. As it is, however, I am playing a square game, and have settled down on a ranche about ten miles from this town of Brownwood, and am no longer known as Jesse James. I am not ashamed of my name, but want peace and quiet for my wife's sake. She has saved me from killing myself, and if I am let alone I will be a good citizen and grow up in a new life with this great State of Texas.

"Tell your reporter to 'set 'em up' to the boys around and send the bill to me. I enclose a photo which was taken some years ago. It is not a really good picture, but will pass muster. Believe me, yours in truth. "JESSE JAMES."

The original of this most remarkable letter, together with the photograph it contained, is now in our possession and can be seen at this office.

The Sewerage of Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Dec. 2.—The citizens committee of fifteen last night adopted the report of the national sanitary commission recently submitted in reference to the sewers, and decided that 2 per cent. tax would be necessary to carry out the recommendations. A resolution urging Governor Marks to call a special session of the legislature was adopted.

Eighty Lives Lost.

LONDON, Dec. 2—The Chemnitz (Saxony) Tagblatt states that an explosion of a fire damp occurred in a mine in that district last evening and it is feared that from seventy to eighty persons perished. The recovery of the corpses of the victims is actively proceeding.

In Memoriam.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Dec. 2.—The employes of the Southern Express Company have erected a marble cenotaph twenty feet high to the memory of William Willis, their late superintendent, who fell a victim to yellow fever in Memphis in 1878, with suitable inscriptions to commemorate the unselfish devotion and noble character of the deceased, and the affection in which his memory is held.

The City of Brotherly Love.

PHILADELPHIA, December 2.—The Democratic delegate elections, held here to-day, were attended with much disorder. In the Fifth ward a convention was broken up by a mob from the Fourth ward and three men were shot, one of whom, Bernard Riley, died on his way to the hospital.

How Can It.

New York Herald.

When manhood seems to be despised or suspected from the pulpit how can its presence be looked for in the pews?

A Radical Tribute.

Toledo Blade.

Mr. Seymour is about the only prominent New York Democrat whose reputation would stand the searching investigation of one week of the campaign.

At Hanover, Pa., Saturday evening, while Messrs. Etzle & Young, with a workman, were engaged in the cellar of their warehouse, it was noticed the walls were falling. An alarm was immediately given and Mr. Young and the workman succeeded in getting to the yard uninjured, but Mr. Etzle was caught by the falling wall just as he was leaping from the door, and instantly killed. The building, which was recently erected, contained about twenty thousand bushels of grain.

Make a Note of This.

Professor Green, a distinguished allopathic physician, wrote to the Medical Journal to the effect that after all other means had failed he sent for the Kidney Cure, (now Safe Kidney and Liver Cure), and to his astonishment cured a serious case of Bright's Disease by administering it, and afterward found it equally beneficial in other cases. He advised his brother physicians to use it in preference to anything else for kidney diseases.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1879.

THE Battleboro Progress is a new paper that has made its appearance. It is cleanly printed and doesn't bear the ear marks of that curse of newspaperdom, a patent outside. By the way new papers are springing up throughout the State it would appear that the "Tar Heels" are growing immoderately fond of reading, and really there is no better way of advancing the cause of education than by supporting the local newspaper. The items are interesting in their respective localities and begets a taste for reading that has good effect on the community.

WE have received copies of the Deadwood (Dak.) Daily Pioneer, in one of which an article with the caption of "The Phœnix City," gives the details of the losses by the recent great fire in that place which foot up over $2,000,000, and then goes on with the future prospects of the city. It says the new Deadwood starts out upon a career of prosperity that bids fair to outstrip even the anticipations and imaginings of her most sanguine citizens. The Pioneer was burned at the time, entailing a loss of $10,000 on the proprietor, but the paper is issued regularly, nevertheless. From all appearances sleep is not known in those western mining towns.

THROUGH the exertions of the American consuls an elaborate report on the cost of living and the rate of wages paid workingmen in foreign countries has been prepared at Washington and distributed to those wishing to compare the condition of laborers and artisans in the United States with that of the same classes in other nations. The British government has shown its appreciation of this statisitcal work by instructing Minister Thornton to transmit a few more copies of it to London for the benefit of manufacturers and others. In view of the depression so long and severely felt in almost every English industry, it is surprising that the authorities there have not thought to make an authentic comparison of this kind of their own. The figures prepared at Washington, however, will show them why it is that they are undersold in most of the markets of the world.

THOMAS A. EDISON, the New York Sun says, will exhibit his electric light in full working order Christmas day. His perfected instrument uses a platinum burner, protected from oxidization while incandescent by being placed in vacuo in a glass bulb. The expansion of a brass "chock" at the base of the platinum is employed to close a circuit and relieve the platinum of an overcurrent of electricity likely to melt the burner. The difficult problem of dividing the current so that it will flow on from lamp to lamp, instead of exhausting itself on one, has been solved by the invention of an entirely new generator. Instead of exciting the field magnet by an armature, the magnet is charged by a separate machine, the armature receiving its supply from another source. From a single generator one hundred and sixty lights are supplied, each of sixteen candle-power, at a cost so far below gas that Edison says that no competition can exist. The wires for the new light are affixed directly to the gas fixtures in Edison's house.

THE receipts from internal revenue show that two-thirds or more of the entire ordinary expenses of the government outside of the interest on the public debt are met by the tax on tobacco and liquors. Thus the consumers of what may very properly be regarded as luxuries contribute the great bulk of the funds required to support the government. Internal taxation, which for many years bore so lightly as to be almost unknown in the United States, has, however, contributed more or less to the maintenance of the government from the beginning of our national history, and it may be assumed that it will continue for a long time to come an established feature of our financial system. Since 1866, when the internal revenue receipts footed up the enormous sum of three hundred millions and over, and when scarcely any species of property was secure from the hands of the tax-gatherer, Congress has from time to time lightened internal taxation, so that now it does not bear heavily. In a comparatively short time we may expect that the internal taxes will be still further abated and ultimately restricted to the luxuries of liquor and tobacco, when there will be no cause for complaint.

A DECISION of much interest was recently rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States in a case involving the question of taxing mortages on real estate. A resident of Connecticut held mortages on real estate in Illinois, and brought suit to prevent the State of Connecticut from collecting a tax on the money loaned, he claiming that a tax could not be levied on property not within the State limits. The Supreme Court decided, however, that the locality of a debt is the place where the creditor resides, and that such locality is not affected, so far as the power of taxation is concerned, by the fact that the debt is secured by a mortgage upon real estate in another State. The State has a right to tax such debt, irrespective of the location of the property which is given as security for the money loaned. The court also decided that the Federal government can exercise no supervision over the discretion excised by a State in the taxation of such property. No provision of the Federal constitution is violated by such an exercise of the power of taxation. The decision is important as a final settlement of a much vexed question in regard to the right of a State to tax property not within the State.

WASTE OF THE SOUTH.

On the first page of the NEWS will be found this morning an account of the experience of a New Orleans gentleman in cotton seed. The article appeared in the Atlanta Constitution, and that journal in commenting on it editorially says: "A prettier formula cannot be found than that by which cotton seed are worked. The oil is expressed from the seed—the substance of the seed is pressed into seed cake and sold—the hulls are used for fuel and the ashes from the hulls is sold for fertilizing purposes. There is absolutely nothing wasted. It looks incredible that a prosperous and intelligent people will allow year after year the oil in the cotton seed to go to waste, especially when of the $12 worth taken from a ton fully $5 is clear profit to the man who takes it. It is a safe and lucrative business, and $8,000,000 are invested in it in the city of New Orleans alone. Outside of that city there are four other mills. In the State of Georgia there is not one. We have money enough to build these mills—enterprise enough—but somehow or other the old spirit of non-progress hangs about our people, and hinders them from their own enrichment."

There is no reason under the sun why the South should not increase her wealth by the proper handling of cotton. When the fall comes the cotton is rushed to market as rapidly as possible. Now, by the adoption of the Clement mill, and making proper use of the seed, the profit would be left in the South instead of being made abroad. "It is the curse of the South that she cultivates loosely, produces irregularly and wastes half that she produces." In the item of cotton: if she would only spin it with these Clement mills she would double the value of the lint, double the value of the seed, and give employment to nearly double the number of people now employed in planting and raising the crops.

The man who has done more to give the South an opportunity to enrich itself was a Memphis mechanic named Clement, who died of the yellow fever. His little machine is already famous throughout the North, East and South, and it promises the grandest results. Here is a comparison between the old and the new processes: At present the cotton is picked from the boll, taken to a gin which simply separates the lint from the seed. The lint is then baled and sent North for manufacturing. With the Clement mill the lint is not only separated from the seed, but it is spun into yarn. The difference in value is enormous. The lint cotton is worth only about eight cents a pound on the plantations; the yarn is worth seventeen cents a pound. It will be seen therefore that every pound of cotton spun is doubled in value. A bale of cotton ginned by the old process is worth say $50; the same cotton run through the new process is worth $100. Of this added value fully $15 is clear profit. A crop of 5,000,000 bales spun into yarn would therefore leave $500,000,000 in the South, while it leaves now only $250,000,000. Of this surplus of $250,000,000 there would be $75,000,000 profit. The rest would be kept on the farms in the way of wages, etc. It looks unreasonable to apply the figures to the whole crop, and yet it would require no more capital to spin the crop into yarns by the new process than it does to gin it by the old. One Clement mill will do the work of three gins and costs about one-third as much. It is believed that they will rapidly take the place of gins on the plantations and that a thorough revolution will be effected. The yarns made by this process are superior to any others and took the premiums at all the fairs. The little mills could not, all combined, supply a fraction of the demand that comes from Philadelphia alone for the yarns.

One point that commends the Clement mills to the South is that they will make an essentially Southern industry. The seed cotton cannot be carried away from the plantations. It must be spun there just as completely as it is now ginned there. The mills are very simple. It is simply the connection of a gin with a spindle by means of carding cylinders. In the old system the fiber is chopped and torn from the seed by lightning-like saws and then thrown all tangled and torn into the lint pile, then packed into bales, taken to the factories, picked out and froggied again and then carded into rolls and spun. In the new process the gin moves slower, pulls the fibre from the seed instead of tearing or cutting it, transfers it carefully to a cylinder, instead of throwing it into the lint pile and spins it at once, instead of packing it, compressing it and picking it out again. In the process of converting seed cotton to thread no less than four machines used in the old process are eliminated in the new process, and a profit of nearly two cents a pound is gained. This is an enormous margin of profit. It is proved also that by the superior gins used in the Clement mills eight per cent. more of lint is taken from the seed than by the old gins. This eight per cent. has heretofore been wasted. From the lint to the thread there is another five per cent. of wastage saved.

The Constitution, in closing its remarks on the interview with Mr. Gates, says: "If our people would only encourage these two industries—if our capitalists would only go into such industries—if our farmers would only club together and establish them in the neighborhoods — if our mechanics would form co-operative companies and build them—we should soon regain the enormous wealth we lost with our slaves and the South would become richer than her most sanguine son can hope for. All general movements are made up of special efforts. All revolutions come from individual arms. We, therefore, pursue, our work hopefully, feeling satisfied that every time it stirs one man to investigation or action it establishes a new outpost of the army that is finally to overrun the whole South and conquer its old methods of lavishness and wastefulness. We have the best country in the world—the best people in the world—and all we need is the same thrift and enterprise that characterizes our friends across the line."

Our noon dispatches of yesterday state that the State Board of Canvassers will probably give the certificate of election to Clarkson N. Potter instead of Hoskins, the Republican nominee.

LITERARY NOTICES.

MYRTLE LAWN. An American Novel. By Robert E. Ballard, of North Corolina. T. B. Peterson & Brothers, publishers.

A good American novel, by a new and able writer, is so rare, that its appearance, to a certain extent, may be greeted as "a joy for ever." Such a work, written in a clear and scholarly style, by Mr. Robert E. Ballard, of Warren county, North Carolina, we have before us now. It is entitled "Myrtle Lawn." With the exception of a splendid episode in Spain, its action takes place in the New World, within a locality stretching from Mexico to Massachusetts; but the scene proper of its principal events is the vicinity of Baltimore, where the leading dramatis personæ are represented as having their proper homes. The main interest turns on the private life of three families; and the animus of the story lies in the ambition of a rich merchant, who maneuvers, by the high education, brilliant talents, pleasing manners, and intended alliance of his only son with a leading politician's daughter to establish him in public life by the additional leverage of vast riches, acquired in business. Paternal ambition is the rock upon which the happiness of the Evarts family and of others is all but wrecked, and the author exhibits much ability in narrating the circumstances of the case. There is another case of love in peril in this story, in which the villain of the tale discreditably figures, while his death-bed repentance and confession is a very truthful and terrible piece of writing, powerful in its tragic force. Mr. Ballard truly holds the "pen of a ready writer"; his style is good, largely owing to his graces to education and society, and the moral tone will please a very large class of readers.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1880. A weekly magazine, The Living Age gives over three and a quarter thousand large and closely printed pages of reading matter—forming four large volumes—every year. No better proof could be desired that it meets a public want than the fact that it has had a successful career of over thirty-five years against much competition,—something remarkable in the history of literary periodicals. Its frequent issue and ample space enable it to present, with a freshness and satisfactory completeness attempted by no other publication, the ablest essays and reviews, the choicest serial and short stories, the most interesting sketches of travel and discovery, the best poetry, and the most valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature, and from the pens of the most eminent writers.

The magazine, in short, furnishes what is essential to American readers in a great and indispensable current literature,—a literature which embraces more and more every year the work of the ablest thinkers and writers of the day. As the only satisfactorily complete and fresh compendium of this literature, its importance and value have steadily increased. It enables the reader, at trifling expense considering the quantity and quality of the matter furnished, to keep pace with the best thought and literary work of our time; and its great convenience to every intelligent person or family can therefore hardly be over-rated.

As the multitude of periodicals increases more and more beyond the means and leisure of readers, the value of such a comprehensive one as this becomes more and more apparent. It well deserves the attention of those who are selecting their reading for the new year. Littell & Co., of Boston, are the publishers.

VEGETINE

Behold Me a Well Woman.

CANCER.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 26, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

DEAR SIR:—I have for years been a sufferer from a dreadful CANCER in my side which caused me untold agony, and as I am a widow with a family depencent upon my exertions for a support, my pain of body was only equalled by my pain of mind, at seeing my children want for bread. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with half a dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess.

Yours gratefully,
MRS. FULLER SUTT.

GOODMAN, MISS., May 6, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been suffering for 25 years with the Piles and found but little relief from any medicine that I have taken for many years past. Last winter I suffered considerably worse than ever before, also in connection with Rheumatism I was confined to my bed for several weeks. Having procured a bottle of Vegetine I took it with good effect. I continued the use, and after taking four or five bottles, find myself comparatively cured. I can cheerfully recommend it for the benefits that I have received from it.

Yours respectfully,
J. W. TAGGART.

BLOOD CLEANSER AND PURIFIER.

TULLAHUMA, TENN.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

Dear Sir,—I have tried Vegetine for Rheumatism and as a blood cleanser and purifier I can cheerfully recommend it

Yours truly,
JAS. M. TRAVIS.

I write this to certify that I have known Mrs. Fuller Sutt from childhood, and have seen the hours of agony, that her patient womanhood has been called upon to endure. She has suffered untold agonies and now sits beside me in perfect health with her child upon her knee. The prayers of this grateful woman will ever be yours, my noble sir, and we add our testimony to the thousands that favor the greatest of all modern discoveries, "Vegetine."

Yours respectfully,
MRS. CHELLET SUMMER

SUFFERED 25 YEARS.

Piles, Rheumatism.

LUNG DISEASE.

SELMA, ALA., May 12, 1872.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I take great pleasure in recommending your Vegetine. I have been suffering for a long time with the Lung Disease; trying every kind of medicine that I could get, but none seemed to do me any good, until I tried your great Vegetine remedy. I had used it only a short time before I could discover a very great change in my health for the better. I don't consider that your medicine has its equal, for the diseases which you propose to cure, especially the disease that I have been afflicted with

GOSSIP FOR THE LADIES.

"Only Me"

A little figure glided through the hall;
"Is that you, Pet?"—the words came tenderly;
A sob—suppressed to let the answer fall—
"It isn't Pet, mamma: it's only me."

The quivering baby lips—they had not meant
To utter any word that could plant a sting,
But to that mother-heart a strange pang went;
She heard and stood like a convicted thing!

One instant, and a happy little face
Thrilled 'neath unwonted kisses rained above;
And, from that moment "Only Me" had place
And part with "Pet" in tender mother-love.

Advice to the dressmakers—Be sure you are right then gore ahead.

Thousands of women have painfully observed that marriage means fewer excursions and less ice cream.

A lady in Alabama gave her hair to be raffled for in aid of General Hood's children, and it brought $80.

Send an American girl to Italy to study and her own papa will not know her when she gets to be a prima donna. Miss Julia Wheelock, of Boston, has learned to warble and they call her Giulia Valda.

A three-year-old little girl was taught to close her evening prayer, during the temporary absence of her father, with, "And please watch over my papa." It sounded very sweet, but the mother's amusement may be imagined when the child added, "and you'd better keep an eye on mamma, too."

Scene, a Swiss hotel parlor. Dramatis personæ—English lady and her daughter, the latter in mountain costume. American lady on the sofa. English lady (loq)—"Don't laugh so loud, Mary; you'll be taken for an American." American lady (sotto voce)—"quite impossible. Look at her feet."

Wears them with her striped hose.
—Atlanta Constitution.

Did you ever notice that there is something really musical in the pitiful weeping of your own baby—God bless it!—and something, everything fiendishly discordant in the squalling of your neighbor's howling young one? How is it, anyhow, that it is always that way?

You can readily tell a New Yorker in Boston, and just now the Empire city is well represented. In a street car the other day, a lady opposite me suddenly jumped up, and gesticulating with her sun-shade at the conductor, said, "Stop!" He stopped the car, she got out and toddled away, while the passengers said to one another, "That is a New York girl!" A little later, two old young ladies with sharp features, intellectual ears and Emersonian ringlets, wanted to get out. "Conductor," said one, who carried a bundle of books under her arm, and also a wart on her nose, "Conductor, cause this conveyance to remain stationary." "Conductor," said the other, "keep this vehicle motionless until we have reached terra firma in safety." They marched out in intellectual file, and I said to my neighbor, "Boston ladies?" "Yes," said he, proudly, "natives, and bound for the annex."

What They Say.

Rev. J. E. Rankin, D. D., of Washington, D. C., certifies of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure: "I do not doubt that it has great virtue." Rev. C. A. Harvey, D. D., Secretary of Howard University, certifies that for Bright's disease "no other remedy can be held for one moment in comparison with this." E. W. Neff, of Detroit, Mich., certifies that it completely cured him of a very serious chronic liver complaint. J. H. Sherlock, of Rochester, N. Y., certifies that it cured him of Bright's disease of several years' standing, and that he believes it to be the most valuable remedy ever discovered. These are samples of hundreds of other testimonials.

TUTT'S PILLS

SYMPTOMS OF A
TORPID LIVER.

Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Pain in the Head, with a dull sensation in the back part, Pain under the shoulder-blade, Fullness after eating, with a disinclination to exertion of body or mind, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, with a feeling of having neglected some duty, Weariness, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, Yellow Skin, Headache generally over the right eye, Restlessness with fitful dreams, highly colored Urine. IF THESE WARNINGS ARE UNHEEDED, SERIOUS DISEASES WILL SOON BE DEVELOPED.

TUTT'S PILLS are especially adapted to such cases, one dose effects such a change of feeling as to astonish the sufferer.

CONSTIPATION.

Only with regularity of the bowels can perfect health be enjoyed. If the constipation is of recent date, a single dose of TUTT'S PILLS will suffice, but if it has become habitual, one pill should be taken every night, gradually lessening the frequency of the dose until a regular daily movement is obtained, which will soon follow.

Dr. I. Guy Lewis, Fulton, Ark., says:
"After a practice of 25 years, I pronounce TUTT'S PILLS the best anti-bilious medicine ever made."

Rev. P. R. Osgood, New York, says:
"I have had Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had any medicine to do me so much good as TUTT'S PILLS. They are as good as represented."

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——One marriage license issued yesterday.

——The streets were deserted last evening.

——Cotton: Middling 11¾@ ⅝ Receipts 326 bales.

——Only one case before the mayor yesterday. Guard-house twelve hours.

——The prospectus of the New York Sun appears in the NEWS this morning.

——A drummer's license was issued to Spotts & Gibson, Richmond, yesterday.

——J. W. Avery, of the Goldsboro Mail, is in the city, stopping at the National.

——The new schedule of the Petersburg railroad is published in this morning's issue.

——The hotel registers show a large number of visitors from different sections of the State.

——That cow! She got her head inside a barrel standing in front of a Fayetteville street store last night and there it stuck.

——A lady that can do a fine piece of silk embroidery may find a chance of plying her needle by referring to our advertising columns.

——Commission Upchurch announces two tracts of land situated in Barton's Creek township for sale, to come off on the 5th day of January next.

——There is trouble at the stores of the Messrs. Stronach; it is all related and accounted for in their new advertisement in this morning's issue.

——Sheriff Nowell's band of female minstrels enliven the jail neighborhood, and when they break forth in the morning they have many listeners.

——The marriage of Mr. P. M. Wilson, city editor of the Observer, and Miss Ellen M. Hale, daughter of P. M. Hale, Esq., will be solemnized this morning. Congratulations to the happy pair.

——Professor Proctor has postponed the meteoric shower until the 5th of December, when fireworks will be nowhere. The Professor appears to be the good angel of cooing couples.

——The Winston correspondent of the NEWS furnishes an account of the breaking out of the fire in that place, but the reception of later dispatches Monday night does away with the necessity of publishing it.

——Attention is called to the advertisement announcing the public letting of certain described pieces of property belonging to Mrs. Mary A. Morehead, located in this city; also of five tracts of land situated in Wake county.

——Sheriff Thompson, of Robeson county, brought up a bracelet brigade for the penitentiary service yesterday. Their names are James Murray, Frank Blount, William Scott, Isaac Burton, Louis Single and Zeb Judd.

— The merits of the NEWS as an advertising medium are well understood throughout the country, and its columns show it. Good prices give a character to any paper and advertisers are not slow to understand it and take advantage thereof.

——Mr. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, was in the city yesterday. He reports Durham in the best business mood possible, and he certainly ought to know. The trade-mark decision doesn't trouble the manufacturers of that place a bit.

——The hearts of the anxious aspirants for the secretaryship of the Department of Agriculture are palpitating vigorously. Each and everyone stands a good show—in his own estimation. Influential persons are solicted hourly, but they prefer to stay non-commital for the present.

——Mr. Wayne Alcott states that his prospective orders for machinery will exceed anything known before in this section. This is the way it should be. With a fine country, good land, and excellent farm machinery, if the Old North State cannot get along, the fault must lie in the people. The article on the first page relative to the cotton interest should be read and carefully studied. All that is wanted is a little money, a little enterprise, and our people will wax wealthy.

Representatives to the Grand Lodge

Are cordially invited to visit Messrs. Alfred Williams & Co.'s bookstore and look at the many pretty new things for holiday presents. Santa-Claus is always at home in the bookstore and can always find just the very thing to please the little ones.

The Revival Meetings.

The meeting at the Swain street Baptist church last night was one of the most interesting of the series. There were quite a number of the large crowd that were present that asked for prayer, and many more that manifested concern. To-night Rev. Harvey Hatcher will preach. The former pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Hufham, will also be present and aid in the work.

County Commissioner.

The board was again in session yesterday; all the members being present.

The minutes of the previous day's session were amended, so as to make the granting of the road from Rosinburg to the Johnston county line subject to the action of the commissioners of that county.

Auctioneer's license was granted to Stronach & Belo.

The bonds of most of the county officers were approved, while the consideration of those of the remaining officers was deferred till to-day.

Commissioner Brown submitted reports in regard to the examination of the accounts of the County Treasurer, and of that officer as Treasurer of the school fund, which were received and ordered to be recorded.

A new road was ordered to be laid out in Buckhorn township, beginning at the Avant Ferry road and running to the county line near T. B. Rollins'; provided there be no demand for damages nor accounts for bridges.

James Askew was appointed to keep rafts from Falls of Neuse bridge, and James Allen was named to do this work at New Bridge, near Hockaday's.

Several persons were relieved from paying poll tax for 1879, for various reasons, such as being unnaturalized, physical disability and bodily infirmity.

A number of accounts were audited and ordered to be paid.

W. R. Poole was added to the committee to let out the building of the bridge at Milburnie, and it was ordered that, in the event of building a new bridge, it be put up on the site of the present one.

Considerable business relating to schools and the poor was transacted.

Adjourned till to-day at 10 o'clock A. M.

One Experience from Many.

"I had been sick and miserable so long and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely disheartened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said 'Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy.'"—The Mother. *

Revolutions Never Go Backward.

This is especially true when they have genuine merit, such as is found in Patapsco Baking Powders. Housekeepers have only to try this Powder to prove the above motto of the truth of history. Patapsco Baking Powders will never go back on you. It is uniformly good and economical. *

A Card.

All who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a receipt that will cure you, free of charge. What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Anæmia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Amenorrhœa, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder and such like organic or functional disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."
W. F. BARR, M. D.,
Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Anamia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment.
GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D.,
New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for chronic diseases.
G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D.,
Eaglewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect.
E. O. GRIGSBY,
DeView, Ark.

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. The reputation of the remedy is too widely known to waste words upon its character. In ordering from druggists always mention Seven Springs Mass. Price $1 per package or six for $5, sent by mail, postpaid.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Cough, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your Druggist as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

The Reason.

The reason for the unprecedented demand for Dr Price's Cream Baking Powder, is the result of its being of superior strength, uniform quality and contains no unwholesome substance. Having thoroughly tested it, we have no hesitancy in recommending it.

Prescription Free

For the speedy cure of seminal weakness, losss of manhood, and all disorders brought on by indiscretion or excess. Any druggist has the ingredients. Address Davidson & Co., 78 Nassau street, New York. *

TWENTY-FOUR OPEN-TOP BUGGIES

From the Well-known and Reliable
—— House of ——
DAVIS, GOULD & CO.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

Here is what they say:

"In construction of our work, we use Patent Wheels, Hand-made Wheels, Sarven's best Patent Wheels. We use only Refined Iron. We use the best of Swede and Norway Iron Bolts. We use the best Oil-tempered Springs, which are all warranted to us. We use the best Case-Hardened Solid Collar Axle, Sheldon's make, Anchor brand. We use the best of Top Leather, also Fancy Colored Trimming Leather and best of Cloth. All Top Linings are pure woolen goods, and not half cotton or shoddy. We stitch all Tops by hand, and nail none. We use concealed Joints in all Tops. We use Steel Bow Sockets, also Wood Bows. We mitre all corners. All woodwork is thoroughly put together, Glue and Screws only being used. We use Hard wood for all Frames. We use the best Seasoned Hickory in all Gearings. In Trimmings we are excelled by none; and in Painting we use Standard Colors, and finish with the best English Varnish.

We claim that we manufacture a better style, and a more superior finished vehicle throughout, for the price, than any other house in the United States. We except none.

All our Top Buggies are made with Shifting Rails, and can be readily changed to Open Buggies. All our Tops are so adjusted as to fit any other like vehicle of our manufacture."

These are no auction buggies. They are standard, and are satisfactorily guaranteed. I am instructed to close them out as soon as possible to get value. Come early and often for bargains.

THE SUN FOR 1880.

THE SUN will deal with the events of the year 1880 in its own fashion, now pretty well understood by everybody. From January 1st until December 31st it will be conducted as a newspaper, written in the English language, and printed for the people.

As a newspaper, the SUN believes in getting all the news of the world promptly, and presenting it in the most intelligible shape—the shape that will enable its readers to keep well abreast of the age with the least unproductive expenditure of time. The greatest interest to the greatest number—that is the law controlling its daily make-up. It now has a circulation very much larger than that of any other American newspaper, and enjoys an income which it is at all times prepared to spend liberally for the benefit of its readers. People of all conditions of life and all ways of thinking buy and read THE SUN; and they all derive satisfaction of some sort from its columns, for they keep on buying and reading it.

In its comments on men and affairs, THE SUN believes that the only guide of policy should be common sense, inspired by genuine American principles and backed by honesty of purpose. For this reason it is, and will continue to be, absolutely independent of party, class, clique, organization, or interest. It is for all, but of none. It will continue to praise what is good and reprobate what is evil, taking care that its language is to the point and plain, beyond the possibility of being misunderstood. It is uninfluenced by motives that do not appear on the surface; it has no opinions to sell, save those which may be had by any purchaser with two cents. It hates injustice and rascality even more than it hates unnecessary words. It abhors frauds, pities fools, and deplores nincompoops of every species. It will continue throughout the year 1880 to chastise the first class, instruct the second, and discountenance the third. All honest men, with honest convictions, whether sound or mistaken are its friends. And THE SUN makes no bones of telling the truth to its friends and about its friends whenever occasion arises for plain speaking.

These are the principles upon which THE SUN will be conducted during the year to come.

The year 1880 will be one in which no patriotic American can afford to close his eyes to public affairs. It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the political events which it has in store, or the necessity of resolute vigilance on the part of every citizen who desires to preserve the Government that the founders gave us. The debates and acts of Congress, the utterances of the press, the exciting contests of the Republican and Democratic parties, now nearly equal in strength throughout the country, the varying drift of public sentiment, will all bear directly and effectively upon the twenty fourth Presidential election, to be held in November. Four years ago next November the will of the nation, as expressed at the polls, was thwarted by an abominable conspiracy, the promoters and beneficiaries of which still hold the offices they stole. Will the crime of 1876 be repeated in 1880? The past decade of years opened with a corrupt, extravagant, and insolent administration intrenched at Washington. THE SUN did something toward dislodging the gang and breaking its power. The same influence now intriguing to restore their leader and themselves to places from which they were driven by the indignation of the people. Will they succeed? The coming year will bring the answers to these momentous questions. THE SUN will be on hand to chronicle the facts as they are developed, and to exhibit them clearly and fearlessly in their relations to expediency and right.

Thus, with a habit of philosophical good humor in looking at the minor affairs of life, and in great things a steadfast purpose to maintain the rights of the people and the principles of the Constitution against all aggressors, THE SUN is prepared to write a truthful, instructive, and at the same time entertaining history of 1880.

Our rate of subscription remain unchanged. For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post-paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7 70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1 20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.
